To RALPH FREEMAN, Esq;

—Little Villains must submit to Fate,
That Great Ones may enjoy the World in State.

GARTH.

SIR,

HERE is not a Being within the whole Compass of human Nature, which is so wickedly dispos'd to contrive, and so fatally circumstanc'd to commit Evil, as the Usurer: He hath ever a Will equal and proportion'd to his Power of doing Mischief; and neither the Call of Nature, of Religion, or of Conscience, have any Effect upon him, when oppos'd to, and placed in Competition with, Interest. Want, and a Spirit of Desperation, sometimes drive Men of strong Passions and quick Sentiments, we see, into the greatest and most criminal Excesses: But I cannot help thinking, that he who picks a Pocket, or even (I could almost say) puts a Throat from these Motives, is not more villainously cruel than the Character I have been speaking of, who meditates his Fellow-Creature's Destruction in Temper; murders him (I may say) without necessity; and ruins him without Remorse. Nor the Nature of such a Man more cruel and barbarous, than it is mean and abject. History (says Monsieur St Evremont) tells us of Illustrious Villains; but never was an Illustrious Miser in the World: His Temper is as base and sordid as it is inexorable; and here is left to be said in excuse for it than for any other Vice. It is the Property of a good Man to meditate and stand up in the Defence of the helpless and distressed, and none but the most profligate and abandoned can make a Business of, and take a Pleasure in, strengthening Oppression, adding Affliction, and accumulating of Miseries upon his unfortunate Neighbour and Fellow-Christian.

In Truth, there is not a more dangerous Quality of Life than an Inordinate Love of Money. A Disposition which is strongly biased this Way, will poison and destroy every good Principle in the Mind: Every thing must submit to the Influence of this Passion, and it will stick at nothing to secure itself an absolute Dominion: It hath its Gradations like other Sins; proceeds from one Degree of Iniquity to another, till at last it grows quite odious and implacable: It hardens itself against Tears, Sighs, and Groans, and is quite deaf to the Call both of Reason and Humanity. Tom Vulture is a remarkable Bird of this kind of Prey, and is as great an Instance of it, as any I can think to give your Reader: I knew him about twenty-five Years ago a spruce Valet to a Captain of marching Regiment, who dying soon afterwards, left him but with Twelve Months Wages in his Pocket, besides what he might make over and above by the Sale of his old Clothes. This Fellow was naturally ignorant, and of a very common and ordinary Understanding, but having a good Stock of Assurance, a voluble Tongue, and Views merely confin'd to his own Private Interest and Advantage, he was not so plainly and regularly observ'd. Upon his Master's Death he took a little Shop, in an obscure and remote Corner of the Town, and understanding how to shave and bleed, he set up at first, and only follow'd, the Business of a Barber-Surgeon; but finding himself a little before-hand (being of an active Nature, and having many little Intervals of Time to spare, as is usual in that Vocation) he began to lend our small Sums of Money upon Pledges; and, as far as his Stock would allow of it, run the whole Length and Iniquities of Pawn-broking, under the precise and specious Insinuation of taking in no Pawns but what were honestly come by. Tom kept his Shop regularly at the same Time, and was so very serious and exact in his Devotions, that it was call'd West of Charity so much as to suspect the Imposture. So very scrupulous was he in his last Calling, that he made it a Matter of Conscience with himself, not to take more of any poor Creature than Twelvence by the Week, for the Use of Twenty Shillings, admitting the Pawn to be double the Value of the Principal, and that the Borrower took care that the Interest was paid by Eight of the Clock upon every Saturday Night punctually. By these wise, cautionary, and prudential Steps, our Hero attain'd in few Years to very considerable Riches, having been known to have worn many an honest Tradesman thread-bare in and about that Place; inasmuch that during his Stay there it was observable, that the Poor Rate was advanc'd, from his first coming, near one fifth Part in Value, as I have been told: Nor could any Body foresee where that would have ended, had not an Information been luckily laid against him, for the receiving of Goods knowing them to be stole; upon which he pack'd up his whole Effects in a Hurry, and march'd off by Night, to the great Pleasure and Emolument of the whole Neighbourhood. A Genius so quick and enterprising, could not long lie dormant; encourag'd by Success, and but more harden'd and confirm'd in his evil Disposition, he now springs aloft, and flies at higher Game, hovering about, and sharply and subtly looking out thro' every Purlicu, to gratify his ravenous Inclination, and fix his Talons in the Sides of the Necessitous, by discounting Bills, and advancing Money upon Joint and Collateral Securities, at extravagant and illegal Premiums. In the Beginning of the Year 1720 (so propitious to Iniquity, big with Mischief, Infamy and Ruin, and every-way adapted to such a profligate and rapacious Mind) he became more than ordinarily remarkable for his Industry and Management; and being Master of a sly and cunning Kind of Address, he soon wriggled himself into the dark and mysterious Iniquity of that Time, and attained the Character of a very considerable Projector. Having a fine Field to display his Masterpiece of Villainy in, to undermine the Rights and Properties of Mankind, and to lay the World waste and desolate, there was not a Scheme however wicked but that he had a Finger in it, nor a Bubble the most visionary and extravagant but he had some Share therein, and of which he never fail'd to make his Advantage, his great Artifice lying in his coming early into the Secret, and selling again out, and selling his Acquaintance with it at those Prices to which the highest Craft, Madness, and Infatuation of those Days had carry'd them. After having made the most of the Calamity, he retired quietly and in time, and by disguising himself under a severe Countenance, a hypocritical Tongue, and a serious and mortify'd Behaviour, he had the farther good Luck to draw his Neck out of the Halter, which he knew he had but too much Reason to apprehend and expect from an enraged and provok'd Legislature. Having rid through and weather'd the Storm in Safety, he retir'd a little Way from the City, and by his Policy got himself elected for his greater Security a Justice of the Peace, wherein he most excellently verifies the Wisdom of the old Proverb, in setting a Thief to catch a Thief, consigning those over to hard Labour, whom formerly he had reduc'd to Idleness, Shame, and Vagrancy, and, like the no less memorable Jonathan Wild, in prosecuting and removing those very indigent and unhappy Persons, whom he had been the principal Means of bringing both to Want and Infamy. The following Letter, Sir, was the Occasion of this, which, if you shall think proper, you will please to submit.

Bethnal-Green,
Sept. 14. 1739.

I am, &c.

RAYMOND LULLY.

Dear Sir,

YOU must know I am a Citizen, who thro' Ambition, Credulity, and a Passion of pushing my Business a little too uncautiously when first I began Trade, have unluckily run myself a ground; to supply which Difficulty, I have for these three Years last past had Recourse to an Expedient, which hath made Bad worse, and thrown me out of a slight and lingring Heftick into a deep Consumption, so that I much question whether it will be possible to save me. This was brought upon me at first by discounting my Notes and Bills, and taking up Money at high and exorbitant Interest; which Methods I find have gradually wasted my Stock, lessen'd my Credit, and reduc'd me to the hard Fate at present of not well knowing how to turn myself. But what adds to my Misfortune, and renders my Calamity the more hard and deplorable, is, the barbarous and cruel Advantage hath been taken of me by the very Person who hath been my Assistant, and hath all along pretended to be my Friend in this Case. For about the Middle of November last, having pretty well weather'd out the Storm, as I thought, and so far brought and reduc'd my Affairs within Compass, as to make my ordinary Payments somewhat regular, and punctual, so as to have a Prospect in a little Time of overcoming all my Difficulties, I went to him with the usual Premium in my Hand, exclusive of the Interest, (which Premium was, I do assure you, none of the smallest) desiring that he would but continue the 500 Pounds at our former Conditions but for Three Months longer, giving him some unquestionable Reasons to convince him that I should be able in that Time to discharge the whole Debt, and make both myself and other People easy. But, to my great Surprize, he receiv'd me in quite another Manner than what was customary, telling me in short and sullen Terms, that he wanted his Money and must have it, or at least such farther Security for it as he himself should approve of. To be plain, Sir, finding him inexorable, I found myself under a Necessity of putting as many Goods into his Hands as cost me twice the Money at the then Market Price, and to give him a Bill of Sale of them; under which Cover, and contrary to his Word and Promise, he hath gone and sold them (as he pretends) at about half the Price they cost me; what can I do? the Law is chargeable, and my Credit tender. Pray, publish this as a Warning to the young, remiss, and credulous Trader, to caution him to avoid a Rock, upon which I find myself just splitting.

I am, SIR, Yours, &c.

SOLOMON LATWIT.

IRELAND:

Dublin, Sept. 8. Yesterday Robert Jocelyn, Esq; his Majesty's Attorney General, was sworn Lord High Chancellor of this Kingdom in the Council-Chamber at the Castle, in the Room of his Excellency Thomas Wyndham Lord Baron of Finglas, and one of the Lords Justices, who hath resigned.

Thomas Bagge, Esq; is appointed Purse-Bearer to the new Lord High Chancellor.

This Morning their Excellencies the Lords Justices, attended by a Squadron of Horse and the Battle-Axe Guards, went to George's Quay, where his Excellency the Lord Wyndham took Boat for Park Gate: Several Persons of Distinction waited on him to the Water-side, to wish him a good Voyage. His Lordship is gone off with an universal good Character, and greatly esteem'd by all that had the Honour to be known to his Lordship.

L O N D O N.

They write from Lisbon of the 5th Inst. that the Oxford Man of War, Capt. Compton, was arriv'd there in 14 Days from Portsmouth, and brought in with her a Spanish Ship bound from St. Sebastian for Cadix, loaded with 50 Tuns of Gunpowder and other Goods.

The Kennington Man of War, Capt. Robinson, arrived at Lisbon the 7th of August from Gibraltar, last from the Squadron of Admiral Haddock.

Capt. Weale of the Boulter, who arriv'd at Dover the 13th Inst. in 11 Days from Lisbon, relates, that the Salisbury Man of War, with the several Merchant-ships under his Convoy, which sail'd from the Downs the 10th of August last, were arrived at Lisbon.

This Week a fine Marble Statue of the late Lord Chancellor King, reclining on an Urn, (done by Mr.
Rysbrack) was erected in Ockham Church in Surrey:
On the Urn is the following Inscription in Gold Letters, viz.

Deposuitum
Petri Domini King
Bisbonis de Ockham.

And on a Marble Pedestal is an Inscription in English, shewing the Place of his Lordship's Birth, the many Poets of Honour he had with Reputation fill'd, &c. &c. &c.

We hear that an Estate of 40l. per annum has lately fallen to the Soldier who was to have been shot to Death Yesterday in Hyde-park for Desertion, but pardon'd by his Majesty; and that he is next Heir to another Estate of 7 or 800l. per annum.

Last Thursday died at Deptford Capt. John Shaw, an old and experienc'd Officer in the Royal Navy.

Yesterday the Six Malefactori condemn'd at the last Assizes at Kingston were executed on Kennington Common; Peter Wellington and Johanna Rashford Sambo were so disorder'd with Liquor that they could scarce stand in the Cart; Sambo behav'd very indecently, interrupting the Clergyman in the Performance of his Office, laughing at the Executioner, and playing Tricks with the Knot of her Halter; the other Four seem'd very sober and penitent.

The Rev. Dr. Foulkes, Canon of Christ Church, Oxford, is appointed Dean of Bath and Wells, in the Room of the Right Rev. Dr. John Harris, late Lord Bishop of London, &c. &c. &c.

Yesterday was held a Board of Admiralty, when their Lordships were pleas'd to appoint Capt. War-ton to be Captain of the Deptford Store-ship, in the Room of Capt. Crawford, who was lately remov'd into the Ludlow-Castle.

Their Lordships were likewise pleas'd to put into Commission the Portland Man of War, and gave the Command thereof to Capt. H. H. H.

And they were sworn in, and receiv'd their Commissions accordingly.

To-morrow Two Charity Sermons will be preach'd at Romford in Essex (for the Relief of 40 Boys and 20 Girls). The Morning Sermon will be preach'd by the Rev. Dr. Thomas, Chaplain to his Majesty (and not Mr. Collins of Walthamstow, as was inserted by Mistake); and that in the Afternoon, by the Rev.
Mr. Gloster Ridley, Chaplain of Poplar.

Albion, 12. Sept. 1739.

On Monday Night the most terrible Thunder, Lightning and Rains happen'd here that has been known. After this was ended, a violent Storm of Wind arose, which continu'd till this Morning; several Sail of Colliers which pass'd by this Place on Monday came to an Anchor in Hoveley Bay, some of which are forc'd from their Anchors and drove to the Northward, the Wind being at S. W. others with Difficulty rode out the Storm; one Ship wrecked lies now Part out of Water in the Mouth of Orford Haven; it is supposed the Men are all drown'd, but the Vessel is not known. The Phoenix, Capt. Hewson, laden with Flax and Timber from Narva, belonging to Shields, sunk in this Bay, but the Captain and Men, being 13, were all saved in a small Yawl, by great Providence. An House at Ufford, a few Miles from this Place, was split by the Thunder or Lightning; and the Chimneys thrown down, but the People in the House receiv'd no Damage.

Pay-Office, Sept. 12, 1739.

THESE are to give Notice, That the Widows of the Commission and Warrant Officers of His Majesty's Royal Navy, will be paid their Pensions and Bounty due to the 31st of August, 1739, at the Pay-Office in Broad-street; viz. The Captains, Lieutenants, and Masters Widows, on Tuesday the 2d of October next; the Boatswains and Gunners Widows, on Wednesday the 3d; and the Widows of the Carpenters, Purfers, Surgeons, and the rest, on Thursday the 4th, between the Hours of Ten and Two; and every Tuesday afterwards, between the same Hours. And all Widows who inhabit in London, or the Parts adjacent, are to take Notice, That the Pension, or Bounty, will not be paid, unless they come in Person to receive it, or that their Attorney does bring a Certificate from the Minister or Churchwardens of the Parish they belong to, shewing the Cause of their Inability.

Now Finished, (beautifully printed on a super-fine Royal Paper) and shall be delivered to Subscribers in November next.

A Treatise on Ancient PAINTING.

Containing Observations on the Rise, Progress, and Decline of that Art amongst the Greeks and Romans; the high Opinion which the great Men of Antiquity had of it; its Connection with Poetry and Philosophy; and the Use that may be made of it in Education: To which are added, Some Remarks on the peculiar Genius, Character and Talents of Raphael, Michael Angelo, Nicolo Poussin, and other celebrated modern Masters; and the commendable Use they made of the exquisite Remains of Antiquity in Painting as well as Sculpture.

The Whole illustrated and adorned with Fifty Pieces of Ancient Painting,

The only true Specifick Chymical LIQUOR, For Dissolving and bringing away the Stone, whether the Kidneys, Ureters or Bladder; and for curing the Strangury, and all Heat, Pain, Inflammation, or Difficulty in making Water.

THE very first Dose of it gives perfect Ease in a Moment, even in the most raging Stone, either Stone or GRAVEL, and at once entirely frees the Patient from the Strangury, and all Heat, Pain and Inflammation of the Ureine; it dilates the Ureters, makes them supple, the Crumblyings of large Stones, together with Sand and Gravel, may pass freely from the Reins, and be voided with Urine without Pain; effectually cleanses the Bladder, and all Urinary Passages from gritty Calculi and loose internal Scorrations or Soreness of the directly takes off all Pain in the Back, and those Pains like the Cholick, and may be depended upon to dissolve Stones, so as infallibly to cure that most miserable Disorder.

It gives such sudden and unspeakable Relief, that ever taken but one Dose of it, will be thoroughly cured of its surprising Efficacy, which many Hundreds have experienced to their infinite Satisfaction.

It is such an agreeable Diuretick and powerful Diluent, that it infallibly prevents the Stone in those who are troubled with Gravel only; and for the perfect Cure of either Stone or Gravel, and all Disorders of the Kidneys, Ureters, or Bladder, occasionally thereby, is the only true Specifick Remedy that can be surely and safely rely'd upon, as it gives instant Ease as soon as taken, (even when nothing else will) and accomplishes a perfect Cure without the least Trouble, Inconvenience, or Pain to the Patient, agreeable to the Stomach, and restoring to the whole Body. It is to be had only at Coffee-house against the Angel and Crown Tavern in Broad-street, behind the Royal Exchange, at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, and Directions at large.

The incomparable POWDER for Cleaning the TEETH,

Has withstood, by its most excellent and known Virtue, the Attempts of many repeated Counterfeits, those imitations by the Name of Powder, others under several other Names, therefore pray take Notice, that the only true and original Powder, is sold no where else, but as mentioned below: It is sent for in large Quantities from the Counties beyond the Seas, where good Allowance is given, as is usual in the East and West Indies as at London.

It has given surprizing Satisfaction to most of the Nobility and Gentry in England, and Years last past, that it hath been published, and vast Quantities of it still continue to be sold.

It is sold only at Mrs. King's Toyshop, the White-chapel against the Cross Keys Tavern in Cornhill, and at Mr.
Markham's Toyshop, the Seven Stars under St. Dunstons Church in Fleet-street, and no where else in England at each Box.

At once using it makes the Teeth as white as Ivory, and so black or yellow before, and effectually preserves them from rotting or decaying, continuing them sound to exceeding old Age. It wonderfully cures the Scoury in the Gums, prevents Rheum or Desquiction, kills the Worms at the Root of the Teeth, and thereby hinders the Tooth-ach. It continually freshens loose Teeth, being a neat cleanly Medicine, of a pleasant and grateful Scent, and in Virtue far exceeds any Thing ever yet found out for those Purposes.

All the Nobility, Gentry, &c. who send to Mrs. Markham for the Powder for Teeth, are desired to give strict Orders not to mistake the Shop, (MARKHAM at length is under the Seven Stars) because most of the Toy-men in her Neighbourhood, seeing Multitudes go to her Shop for it, have brought up Counterfeits and sell their stuff in Imitation of this and approved Powder, in Prejudice to the Publick, &c.

The LIP-SALVE
Which is so much esteemed, and of so many Years large experience, and whose Virtues vastly exceed any of the Counterfeits, since its first Publication, is sold at the same Places at 1 s. each Box.

For in two or three Hours time it heals them, tho' never rough or chapt; prevents the Skin from peeling, and makes them delicately soft and smooth, giving them a becoming brilliant Colour; the Fragrancy of its Odour also renders the Breath fine and sweet, and it may be eaten for its Safety.
